

PERFORMANCE-MEETING

SONG OF THE EARTH

The Nature Orchestra, Prehistorical Music, The four Elements, Music of the Origins

The meeting has the aim to raise the participants of their surrounding sounds, focussing their attention on to what Nature can offer in order to reconstruct together a path leading to ancient cultures.

The show is an invitation to reclaim Nature's voices and sounds and to re discover an "ecology of sound"

Xylophones, vibraharp, singing woods and stones, flying rumbles, shells and pumpkins transformed into trumpets, mouth arcs, flutes of every kind, wind chimes, jingles and many more instruments will be played in order to re create the sound of the four elements.

The participants will be engaged in the playing and re creation of the sounds of Air, Water, Earth and Fire, the wetland, the jungle, the subterranean world, the under the sea worlds.

A meeting where sonic exploration and curiosity will be stimulated by various objects and various activities such as beating, hitting, grating, blowing, pinching, shaking.
